

Additional Security Policy December 11, 1997

Due to continuing security problems in the lobbies, ACPA is now hiring additional security for all non-theatrical, non-classical music events, and non-family oriented events. This is a fee charged to the User at closeout. These security personnel answer to house managers and production. We have already applied extra security to some of our events with success.

Users will be notified in advance of their event as to the number of additional security persons to be hired, their hourly rate, and an estimation of the total wage and administrative charges to be accrued by ACPA.

Users who are not notified regarding security may assume that ACPA will not be hiring additional security for their event.
